Foreword

We hope this Oak will give you two things: first, a record of happy days; second, a deeper interest in the romance, culture, and economic life of our neighbors on the South. Pan-Americanism, our theme, was prompted by friendship and patriotism and we are anxious that suggestions offered here will aid in the creation of new conceptions of a friendship that will be lasting and bonds of interest which will not permit us to separate.

If, in the years to come, these pages cause a laugh, a sigh, a tear, we hope they will also give an immeasurable pride that this, your Yearbook, played an humble but sincere part in the early development of North, Central, and South American solidarity.

When you discover our errors, we, the staff, beg your indulgence. They resulted not because of enthusiasm and effort but in spite of them.

lady,

Dedication

This, the thirtieth volume of The Oak is dedicated to our teachers of Spanish—Miss Roberta King, Miss Eugenia Newberry, and Miss Virginia Rootes—three "senoritas sympaticas", whose unfailing interest in us combined with their love and understanding of the traditions and customs of Latin America have kept alive our enthusiasm for the Spanish language and the people who speak it.

May they accept this tribute as a small token of our affection for them and of our gratitude for their ceaseless effort in our behalf.

Hall of Fame

*"For when the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name,
He marks—not that you won or lost—but how you played the game."*

The Open Door

"Education is an ornament in prosperity and a refuge in adversity"

To the Seniors:

The most hopeful situation today, as regards international relationship, in a chaotic world, is the Pan American movement. Led by President Roosevelt's "good neighbor policy, the countries of the Americas are forging a bond of friendship with each other, which bids fair to distinguish the western hemisphere as the only place on earth where no country is at war with any of its neighbors.

Students of Adamson High School and the other schools throughout these lands have their part to play in this program of sympathetic understanding and friendship among Americans. We trust that this "Oak" with its Pan American theme will aid in carrying out this "All American" policy of brotherhood, peace, and prosperity.

It is our sincere hope that the Seniors of 1942 may very soon be privileged to live and work in a world of Pan American ideals, where clasped hands and not mailed fists control our destinies.

HOWARD A. ALLEN

Faculty

Introducing a group of jolly folks, the Adamson teachers. You think of them as "The Faculty" a group set apart. They are really individuals—with hobbies and varied out-of-school activities. They are homemakers, theatre-goers. They enjoy ball games; actively participate in other sports; relish good jokes and clean fun.

Educating young America is their big job and every student is grateful to them for their loyalty to Adamson, its traditions and their service in maintaining its high ideals.

Amigos

America a song is singing,
All her children's voices merge,
A lilting, poignant Spanish tune
With English words.

Caballeros, senoritas,
Niños in the street
Join in riotous celebration,
Dance on lightened feet.

Argentineans', Costa Ricans',
Voices rise and fall,
Shouting battle cries of freedom,
"Americanos all!"

—Betty Claire King.

In 1918 Miss Hazel Mathis, an instructor in Oak Cliff High School, organized the Girl Reserves. Miss Mathis is now a missionary somewhere in China; Oak Cliff is Adamson. The Girl Reserve is still the same organization motivated by the same high purpose and slogan, though now it is shared with its little sister, the Junior Girl Reserves. Their code is:

*Gracious in manner
Impartial in judgment
Ready for service
Loyal to friends
Reaching toward the best
Earnest in purpose*

*Seeing the beautiful
Fager for knowledge
Reverent to God
Victorious over self
Ever depend
Sincere at all times*

Pan American Majesty

Majesty, dignity, grandeur supreme,
In truth your whole country seems more like a dream,

A dream of deep valleys and high lofty mountains,
Of beautiful lakes and crystal clear fountains.

Never before was a land so endowed
With wonders before which Inca kings humbly bowed.

Yours is a storehouse of minerals, jewels unclaimed,
There are also dense jungles still to be tamed.

There, the orchid is unrivaled queen of the flowers,
And reigns o'er the tropics in fairy-like bowers.

The unrivaled beauties of nature are there Symbolic of the heritage it's proud to bear.

A hidden cave in a mountain high
May hold a secret of days gone by,

A time when your Indians, strong and brave,
Their very lives for their homeland gave.

This land of "mañana" has a future in store,
Secured by those who have gone before,

But made more certain by friendly relations
Which now exist between the nations.

Not only now but forever more
To you our southern friends there's an open door.

Your beauty, your grandeur, and treasures rare
Will serve to remind us of friendships we bear.

SUE HUSTON.

"O! thus be it ever, when to men hath stand
 Between them let I come and the war's d'solation!
 Blest with victory and peace, over the barren-swept land
 Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation
 Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just,
 And this be our motto—"In God is our trust."
 And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
 Over the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Latin American Men

You are the founders, the workers; you are the believers,

You founded your country, made your homes;

Plowed the soil, you planted the seed;

You fought ignorance and worshipped your God;

By fighting the evils of men, you have stabilized your country.

By educating your children, you have insured the life of your country.

You, too, are sincere in your love for peace.

By establishing the Christ of the Andes, you have proved your sincerity.

Men of South America—Latin American men,

We, of North America, salute you—

Salute you for the battles you have fought for your country—

We salute you for your earnestness in preserving your country and maintaining your ideals.

You are the courageous inhabitants of South America,

You are the Latin American men.

Basketball

$$K_{\text{eff}} = 1.0$$

$f: \mathbb{R}^n \rightarrow \mathbb{R}^m$  is a continuous function. Let  $\mathcal{C} \subset \mathbb{R}^n$  be a compact set. Then  $f(\mathcal{C}) \subset \mathbb{R}^m$  is also compact. This is a consequence of the Heine-Borel theorem and the fact that  $f$  is continuous.

April 18—Juanita Stanley won the Spanish Essay Contest—the fifth consecutive winner for Adamson. Methinks this speaks extremely well for some persons interested in this field of endeavor. However, it might be that Juanita is just an exceptional essayist as well as Betty Manson, Jeannette Roundtree, Johanna Jones, Helen Spangler.

April 30—The last of the Oak goes to press today. Seniors are thinking of their importance. All senior dates are made and plans for Commencement complete. The Senior Prom will be Friday, May 22, the night of the Senior Day. It's to be formal. Saturday, the 23, Johnny Ellis will have open house for us all. Monday there'll be a Sunrise breakfast and later a Tea Dance, with Beatrice, Barbara, Mary Frances Wilson, Dolores Crockett, Betty Taylor as hostesses. On Tuesday, Seniors will go to Mrs. Baird's Ranch as guests of Mary Lou and Bill Pitts! So on, thru the week—a bowling party, a kid party, a swimming party, an ice-skating party and then Commencement—at M. Farlin Auditorium—so Uncle Gus and Aunt Mary, Grandpa and Grandma and all the cousins and my own family can see me graduate.

I've asked to have my whole name printed on my diploma. Think the folks, especially Dad, will like it better than the nickname. Wonder how I'll feel when that Diploma is really in my possession. Looking back now, it has all been fun and I've learned many things. Will forget some of them but never this: "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible with Liberty and Justice for all."

Texans are proud of Texas. There is something about our size and resources, our origin and struggles, our ambitions and our destiny that stir the soul and is peculiarly like Pan Americanism and that it embodies a very unique "Texas" Synthesis. Our mixture is varied as that of Pan America. Our proximity to many of our Latin American neighbors has resulted in the overlapping of religious, political and social customs and ideals. Many Texans speak the language of our neighbors as well as their own.

The following poem is offered here as evidence that there is an affinity between Texas and Pan Americanism.

Texas

By Betty Claire King

I

Man of the flashing eyes,
Man of the undaunted spirit,
Nature lover, Nature dweller,
Worshipper of the Great Spirit;
Yours is the pride and mystery
Of a great people,
Descendants of Alabamas, Coushattas,
Your courage and tenacity
Have inspired the children
Of your conquerors.
You began an Empire.

II

Man with the big sombrero,
Man of weatherbeaten features,
Cow puncher, sheep raiser,
Texas rancher,
Your cattle graze on all the prairies,
Your sheep cover every hillside,
You are king of our Empire,
You are Texas personified,
With your tall tales of Pecos Bill, Captain
McDonald,
Judge Roy Bean, Big Foot Wallace,
You are a symbol of Texas.

III

Man in dusty overalls,
Man with the plow,
Sower, tiller, reaper,
Son of the Texas soil,
Your cotton has clothed a nation,
Your corn has fed the people,
Your wheat has strengthened children,
You have fought drouth and starvation,
Back of industry you are standing,
You, a dirt farmer, a provider of an Empire.

IV

Man with the pruning shears,
Man with a wicker basket,
Fruit grower, fruit picker,
Valley man,
Your orchards stretch beside the Rio Grande,
Your oranges, grapefruit, lemons,
Are treasures of the Valley,
Your work is good,
It has put roses in children's cheeks,
You have helped to build an Empire.

V

Man with the long saw,
Man with the swinging axe,
Wood cutter, home provider,
Texas lumberman,
Yours are the forest of East Texas;
Tall, straight, strong pine trees,
Lumber for the homes of Texans,
Wood pulp for newspapers,
Wood cutter, home provider,
You are part of an Empire.

VI

Man with the greasy clothes,
Man with the strong arms,
Oil seeker, oil driller,
Master of black gold,
You have built a city of towers,
Derricks that point to the sky,
Pumps that sing a song of Texas,
Amarillo, Kilgore, Burkburnett,
Oil seeker, oil driller,
You are part of an Empire.

VII

Man with the strong net,
Man of the little boat,
Gulf sailor, gulf fisher,
Man of the coast,
Yours are the fish,
The shrimp, the oysters,
Yours are the ships
That carry the wool, the beef,
The cotton, the wheat, the oil,
You are part of an Empire.

VIII

Man in the smart grey suit,
Man with the cosmopolitan air,
City dweller, money maker,
Texas business man,
You have built cities,
Dallas, Houston, Austin,
San Antonio, Fort Worth,
The factories belong to you,
Trucks on highways,
Buildings, ships, and bridges,
You have financed an Empire.

IX

Man with the smiling face,
Man with the twinkling eyes,
Fair planner, fair goer,
Fun maker,
You have educated, entertained,
The State Fair of Texas,
All the county Fairs,
Rose Festival, Battle of Flowers,
Fat Stock Show, Pioneer Days,
You have glorified an Empire.

X

Man of lofty spirit,
Man of great heritages,
Worker, helper, creator,
Texan,
Your Thermopylae, the Alamo,
San Jacinto, Goliad, your hallowed shrines,
The world knows you,
Your strong hands build, not destroy,
Your Lone Star is brightest of all,
You are the Empire of Texas.

Acknowledgements

The Oak Staff welcomes this opportunity to thank those who have aided in the publication of this yearbook.

Especially do we appreciate the continuous, sympathetic understanding of Mr. Allen. To Miss Graves, for her unfailing and cheerful co-operation we say, "Thank you". To all faculty members who have given suggestions and helpful criticism, we offer "mil gracias". To Colonel Clement and the Corps for their efficient supervision of the picture making, we also give thanks. To Mrs. Mabel Smith, artist, for assuming the responsibility of the art work, we are particularly grateful. To the students not on the staff who have been enthusiastic helpers, we extend our heartiest wishes that you, in turn, will receive the same encouragement and assistance when you publish the succeeding Oaks. We hope that Messrs. Crenshaw, Bennett, Wilkinson and Denison's Studio will accept our gratitude for their friendly and valuable guidance.

To you, we owe a tremendous debt. Because of you, our task has been a happy one.

Sincerely,

THE STAFF.
